IPJC Community & Program Highlights

Partner with IPJC: Sponsor the 2026 "Spark Hope"

Our theme this year is "Spark Hope". Coming together to spark hope through community allows us to build power for good that creates change. Each year, IPJC's Spring Benefit garners critical resources that support leadership development, faith formation, and movement building across the Northwest. Our goal is to raise $130,000+ to empower this critical work. With over 200 guests in attendance and many more reached through our website and email communications, your support will be shared with a broad-based community committed to and passionate about justice and peace. Your sponsorship will inspire and encourage others to support the work to transform the world for the common good. We hope you can join us!

ABOUT THE INTERCOMMUNITY PEACE & JUSTICE CENTER

IPJC is a faith-based community organizing center that builds communities of belonging increasing the capacity of the people of God to create systemic change for the common good. We do this through accompanying communities and individuals by offering training, publications, and collective action to provide experiences of belonging, social justice leadership development, and powerful pathways for creating change. The work of the Center is grounded in the charism of justice and peace drawn from and shared in co-responsibility with its seven founding religious communities and 17 affiliate communities.
